Joy to deck each future minute,
Up and down, the ſmile or frown of fortune may the world be flinging,
Up and down, the ſmile or frown of fortune may the world be flinging,

KATH.e Now gladly madly,
No more ſadly,
We the fleeting moments meaſure;
MAIN.st But ſo ſprightly,
Reckon lightly,
Coming days of honeſt pleaſure;
KATH.e O'er each vapor,
Cut a caper,
MAIN.st Trip up care and melancholy:
And tell 'em then,
To call again,
For we're determin'd to be jolly.

Solo Fitzwater.
Ye lads upon land, tho' all Europe ſhou'd brave you. With hearts made of ſteel they'd be certain to meet, For your gallant efforts wou'd ſecond the Navy, And join in the cause of the Engliſh Fleet, And join in the cause of the Engliſh Fleet. Since Solo Philip.

Tho' a Frenchman my part 'twas to act in our fable, Yet now a true Briton I'm forc'd to repeat, That every foe must knock under the table, Who thinks of opposing our English Fleet - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - Since Solo Mainmast.

From the days of old Edward, France ne - ver could whack us, Tho', often they've try'd and as oft' have been beat; And now we've Hi - bernia and Scotia to back us. 'Tis nonsense to threaten the En - glish Fleet; 'Tis nonsense to threaten the English Fleet. Since

Your former in - dulgence with pride re - collecting, to night let us hope with like kindnefs to meet; If we fail we're the first who were wrong, in expecting Succefs from the aid of the En - glifh Fleet; Succefs from the aid of the Englifh Fleet. Since
